

Executive Proclamation

Office Of The Governor

WHEREAS, Conserving our nation's natural and wildlife resources is one of the most important responsibilities we have to this and future generations of Americans; and,

WHEREAS, Hunters and fishermen were among the first to realize this responsibility more than 100 years ago when they saw firsthand how expanding civilization and commercial exploitation had caused disastrous declines in wildlife populations throughout America; and,

WHEREAS, They took steps to reverse the trend; hunters and fishermen helped found the conservation movement, supported laws to stop commercial exploitation of wildlife, and helped establish state fish and wildlife agencies that could implement much needed conservation programs; and they suggested and supported laws to establish special hunting and fishing license fees and special taxes on their equipment to pay for conservation programs; and,

WHEREAS, Through these fees, special taxes and private contributions, hunters and fishermen have contributed more than $6 billion for conservation, and the programs supported and financed by sportsmen have benefitted hundreds of wildlife species from pronghorn antelope and white-tailed deer, to songbirds and whooping cranes--wildlife that all Americans can enjoy;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, GEORGE S. NICKELSON, Governor of the State of South Dakota, do hereby proclaim September 26, 1987, as in South Dakota, and I urge our citizens to join with hunters and fishermen in a renewed effort to secure the future of America's natural and wildlife resources.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the Great Seal of the State of South Dakota, in Pierre, the Capital City, this Twenty-Third Day of September, in the Year of Our Lord, Nineteen Hundred and Eighty-Seven
